Sheila & co.,

Things are moving along out here. We are now at well HK-12 and have now found water at about 65 feet. Will drill a bit more and plan to change screen length to 10 feet since it appears to be semiconfined and there is no need to have 20 feet, plus we do not want to create interconnections above some clayey silts we went through earlier.

Had two neighbors visit us here, including one who did not know English and was quite pleased when one of the workers who is doing traffic control came to get me to talk with him. Both of them left in happy notes and with the cards that we had for distribution.

Had snow late yesterday and last night enough to cover the area in white, and also had ice in all the roads, which made getting here a bit slow this morning.

Greetings from the wine and cow country.
